The National Constitution Day

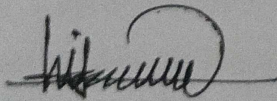

The National Constitution Day, popularly known as Samvidhan Divas, was successfully held on November 26, 2023, on the college campus by the Political Science Department of Unity College Dimapur, Nagaland to mark the promulgation of the Indian Constitution. The significance and applicability of the constitution were emphasized through a virtual mode and poster campaign to commemorate the observation. The observation served as a catalyst for the students' increased understanding of the constitution, their ability to advocate for its ideals, and their own adherence to them.
